One (1) Master’s Fellowship Position
[Ref # PAR-0624]

The research group of RNA and Gene Regulation at IMBB invites applications for one (1) Master’s fellowship of a 2-month duration starting 01.07.2024 (PI Evgenia Ntini).

Position Description:
The Master’s student will analyze hundreds of samples from the TCGA RNA-seq data to extract splicing efficiency of IncRNAs, while integrating additional multiomics data such as expression and splice site mutations. The overall goal is to build regulatory networks to infer disease progression, cancer subtype and association with drug resistance. Facilitating and managing large-scale data should be finally handled by creating automated pipelines, using Nextflow for instance. The candidate should be interested in transcriptomics and regulation of gene expression, next- and third-generation sequencing technologies, and have a basal theoretical background in RNA biology.

Qualifications:
− Bachelor Degree in Life Sciences with a very good grade record
− Enrollment in a postgraduate program leading to a Master degree
− Excellent oral and written skills in English
− Experienced with presentation of bioinformatics topics in English
− Bioinformatics skills (coding in Python, R, Unix, bioinformatics tools, machine learning, workflows)
− Proof of experience by international seminars/workshops attendance will be appreciated
